

FONTANA CONTINUES TO LOSE STRENGTH

First Claim of Fourteen Votes for Speakership Has Dwindled to Eleven.

ADMINISTRATION MEN IN LINE.

Moloney and Rott Declare They Will Support Mayor Wells and Good Government Policy.

The contest for control of the new House of Delegates is one of the most interesting that has ever taken place in the city. The lines have been drawn and the issue now involved is administration or anti-administration. The administration element appear to have the best of the contest.

The Fontana holding the balance every day. It was reported Tuesday that Fontana had fourteen votes for the speakership, but it developed yesterday that it was not known just how many he had, but the number was less than eleven.

At the Fontana caucus Tuesday night, the programme mapped out indicated that the Fontana had been fixed and those who attended the caucus were apprised of its existence. The programme was as follows: Speaker, John R. Fontana; Speaker pro tem, John R. Fontana; Clerk, Joseph N. DeLoe; Assistant Clerk, John Dowling; Sergeant-at-Arms, Patrick Garvey.

Since the caucus, however, several of the alleged Fontana adherents have taken a decided change of front. It was given out that among the Fontana supporters were the majority of the Sixteenth Ward and Rott of the Seventh.

NOT FOR FONTANA.

Yesterday George Rott, who was claimed by the Fontana crowd, declared that he had never elected a Fontana caucus. He said:

"I was elected on an administration platform, and I promise to keep my promise to the voters of my ward. Therefore, I could not conscientiously support Fontana for the speakership."

Timothy Moloney, delegate from the Sixteenth Ward, who also has been expected by the Fontana element to be with them, yesterday declared that any connection of his name with the Fontana speakership boom was a misrepresentation of his attitude. He also declares he was elected on an administration platform and means to keep his promise.

The Fontana combination is regarded as a desperate effort to keep the anti-administration, so it is claimed.

While Mayor Wells, like Harry R. Hawes, has stated that he will take no hand in the organization of the House, it is understood that he is the "comb" of the organization with the keenest interest.

William H. Hughes, who is Fontana's only opponent, now has a goodly number of votes in his favor, and it is expected that more will fall into the Hughes column in order to be elected as administration men.

EDWARD BUTLER SENT FOR.

The Fontana combination, realizing that they are fast losing ground, are resorting to measures of divers descriptions to bring about a division in the opposition, or the administration men.

A move was started yesterday to boom Meehan of the Twenty-first Ward for Speaker. In opposition to Hughes, Meehan was quickly conceived and Meehan declined to become a party to such a plan. The "comb" of the organization, however, led by Fontana, are now trying to get out another candidate, but are operating under cover.

The administration, or rather, the anti-Fontana members of the House, are now making a move to divide the solid Hughes administration.

It was stated last night that the matter had become so serious for the Butler-Fontana fight that the plan of the anti-Fontana administration was to have a caucus to elect a Speaker. The plan was to have a caucus to elect a Speaker.

What is expected is that the plan of the anti-Fontana administration was to have a caucus to elect a Speaker. The plan was to have a caucus to elect a Speaker.

In response to a toast, Mr. Robert spoke of the advantages gained by an organization in which all members of a trade were represented, and cited the St. Louis Paint Association as an example.

Among those who were present: H. V. Kent, Nelson Robins, O. H. Green, W. Blot, Theodore Meyer, Fred Westerback, Arthur Davis, Walter Baker, Edward Concanan, W. H. Gregg and A. A. Eberson.

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION ACQUAINTS RECRUITS HOW TO HANDLE CROWDS ON DEDICATION DAY.

THE MAN TO THE LEFT IN FRONT IS GRANT WOMER, WHO WILL HAVE CHARGE OF THE CORPS OF GATEMEN. HE IS NOW DRILLING THIRTY-FIVE RECRUITS TO USE A PATENT TURNSTILE.

World's Fair Ticket Takers Being Drilled.

Thirty-five men, the nucleus of 300 who will admit the dedication crowds to the World's Fair, are being daily drilled in preparation for their duties. They are instructed to operate the new turnstiles.

The Department of Admissions of the Fair during the dedication period and the Exposition proper will be organized along military lines. The steps in that direction now are being taken.

Up at the top is Norris B. Gertz, Director-in-Chief. Next is E. Norton White, who has had previous experience with exhibitions, and who is General Superintendent of Admissions. Next is E. L. Turner, who has charge of all the clerical work in this connection. Next is Grant Womer, Chief Inspector of the ticket-takers and ticket-sellers, who is, as it were, "commander in the field."

Mr. Womer is organizing his men into squads. These squads, when the time comes, will be detailed to the various entrances to the grounds. Each man of the squad will have his particular task assigned to him. In charge of each detail will be a sub-inspector, or, to keep up the military parallel, a "company commander."

If anything goes wrong at a post, the sub-inspector can telephone to the chief inspector, who is in the main square, and call upon other departments. Should the case be such that it is within the chief inspector's power to handle, he will do so.

The task now is to get ready. The 300 men needed at the gates cannot all be employed before the dedication. They will begin their duties on the morning of April 20, Dedication Day. Some trained men must be had.

COLLEGE BOYS ENGAGED.

The major portion of the gatemen will be Washington University students. President Francis of the Exposition suggested to W.

The 1,300 men have been drilling early and late for the last two weeks, perfecting themselves in the school of the soldier company, battalion and regiment. The band members of the troops will make a showing of which all may be proud.

The entire Sixth Infantry, consisting of twelve companies, recruited up and sent to St. Louis, where they will be in the line of march. The Sixth Infantry Band, the Sixth Cavalry Band, the Twenty-eighth and thirtieth Infantry, the Twenty-first and thirtieth Cavalry, the First Battalion of Engineers, the Tenth and thirtieth Cavalry, will go to St. Louis, where they will be in the line of march.

University students will be used chiefly as ticket takers, as there must be as many or more of these than gatekeepers, since the latter can admit persons to the grounds faster than the same number of men can sell tickets.

The handling of the tickets is in the hands of Mr. Turner. By careful estimates of the amount of his sales, the number of tickets to be sold, the number of tickets to be sold, the number of tickets to be sold.

But, as Mr. Womer puts it, a "green hand" would have a great difficulty in operating the turnstiles. Consequently it was decided to take on a force of men and "break in the recruits," and thus have available a company which can aid and direct the inexperienced ones. Accordingly a school for ticket-takers was established and now is in daily operation.

One of the duties, which are of the most important, is to select a person, who is to be in charge of the ticket-takers. This person is to be in charge of the ticket-takers, and will be in charge of the ticket-takers.

DOCKERY VETOES ELECTION BILL

Declares That Its Provisions Would Work Unnecessary Hardships on Voters.

JUDGES SHOULD BE SUPREME.

Effort to Require Affidavit of Freeholder That Man Is Qualified to Vote, the Governor Asserts, Is Unprecedented.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 15.—Governor Dockery today vetoed the bill passed by the last Legislature amending the State election law so that a voter, if challenged, would have to present the sworn statement of a freeholder of the township that he is legally qualified to vote before his ballot can be cast.

The Governor says the bill is unprecedented and would be likely to work unnecessary hardship without really making the elections safer. His message vetoing the measure says, in part:

"The Secretary of State, Sir: I have the honor to forward to you herewith, without my assent, a bill amending the State election law. It is an act to amend section 115 of article 11, chapter 102, of the Statutes of this State, relating to the election of members of the General Assembly. This bill makes an innovation in our election law, which, so far as I know, is without precedent."

Under existing statutes, when the right of a person to vote is questioned by an outsider, the question is determined by the judge of election upon evidence satisfactory to him. This bill has taken away from the judge of election the right to determine the question, and has placed it in the hands of a freeholder of the township in which the voter resides.

This bill makes an innovation in our election law, which, so far as I know, is without precedent. It is an act to amend section 115 of article 11, chapter 102, of the Statutes of this State, relating to the election of members of the General Assembly. This bill makes an innovation in our election law, which, so far as I know, is without precedent.

As a practical question, it is possible that this bill would work well in some instances, but it is not probable that it will be successful in many others. It may be said that one offering to vote is entitled to a ballot, and that the judge of election is to be able to furnish at least one resident freeholder of the township in which the voter resides. This is true if the qualification of a voter is based upon residence, but the challenge may be based upon other grounds.

This bill requires a freeholder, that is, a landowner, to be a landowner, but he must also be a resident of the township in which the voter resides. It is obvious, therefore, that this bill is a challenge to the judge of election, and is a challenge to the judge of election.

It is a challenge to the judge of election, and is a challenge to the judge of election. It is a challenge to the judge of election, and is a challenge to the judge of election. It is a challenge to the judge of election, and is a challenge to the judge of election.
